CROWN DOMINANCE

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

When you display crown chakra dominance, your relationship with Source energy guides all insights. The language of signs and synchronicity may be a strong form in which your intuition speaks. One key indicator for crown chakra dominants is that they receive many intuitive confirmations through chills. A crown chakra dominant is able to see the light in all things and may have a hard time identifying or working with shadow energy. Like all things, it is important to acknowledge the spectrum, so this may be an area to intentionally explore to develop your intuitive muscle.

STRENGTH = CONFIRMATIONS, SIGNS + SYNCHRONICITY

Your intuition speaks through the form of confirmation through chills/goosebumps. You experience a beautiful language of signs and synchronicity all around you to affirm your intuitive knowing. It can be quite magical living from this place.

CHALLENGE = EGO DOMINANCE + ENERGETIC SPECTRUM

When the crown chakra is vulnerable, it is much easier to shift into a place of ego dominance. We all have an ego as human beings, the importance is establishing awareness around when the ego is leading and noticing when it dominates. Acknowledging the shadow part of the spectrum is essential to crown chakra health and discernment.
